

CONTENTS

Labour law or social competition law? The right to dignity of working people questioned (once again). Observations on the future of labour law
Marc RIGAUX	1
Prologue	1
I. Labour law, labour market and social competition	2
A. A different approach of labour law	2
B. Marginal correction of the labour market	3
C. Preliminary conditions for correction	3
D. The liberalisation of the (labour) market and the lack of adequate social correction at the transnational level	4
II. The historical link between labour law and human dignity	4
A. The primary function of labour law	4
B. The principal fundamental right of human dignity	5
C. The (wage earning) worker: from commodity to citizen	5
III. Labour law, market law and social competition law	6
A. The foundation of liberal society	6
1. The concept of liberal society	6
2. The market as a regulatory mechanism for the satisfaction of social needs	7
3. Arrangements to manage and control systems aimed at the satisfaction of needs	7
4. Freedom and equality in law or freedom and equality in name only?	8
B. Work as an object of market law and competition law	8
1. The foundations	8
2. Labour law and the limitations of the freedom of the market and competition	9
3. The liberalisation of the labour market: an existential threat ...	10
4. The liberalisation of the labour market: an existential threat to labour law	11
IV. The right to dignity of working people questioned (once again)	11
A. Social correction jeopardised at the international level	11
B. Competition between the national systems of social adjustment ...	12
C. In search of an adequate transnational social counterforce	12

Droit du travail ou droit de la concurrence sociale ? De droit à la dignité du travailleur est-il (à nouveau) remis en question ?
René DE QUENAUDON.....	15
Instruments of labour law. It is high time to start wondering whether labour law has not changed into social competition law, meaning that the right to dignity of working people is questioned (once again)
Jens M. SCHUBERT.....	21
I. Introduction.....	21
II. Instrument – an ambivalent term.....	22
III. Perspectives.....	23
IV. The cloud.....	23
V. Individual labour law instruments.....	25
VI. Collective labour law instruments.....	26
VII. Other instruments.....	28
A. Instruments in procedural law.....	28
B. Economic instruments.....	28
C. Tort law.....	28
VIII. Classification.....	29
IX. Evaluation and final thoughts.....	29
Bibliography.....	30
Les changements juridiques sur le marché du travail externe et interne
Jan BUELENS.....	33
I. Le changement du mode de production.....	33
II. Quelques exemples des changements de flexibilité interne.....	34
III. Flexibilité externe: l'exemple de la sous-traitance.....	36
Le droit du travail et les modifications apportées au marché du travail
Esteban MARTINEZ.....	45
I. Les changements de la norme sociale de l'emploi.....	45
II. La mobilisation flexible des travailleurs.....	46
III. L'affaiblissement des protections liées au contrat de travail salarié.....	49
A. L'enjeu de la relation d'emploi.....	50
B. Travailler sans limites.....	51
C. Une pluralité d'employeurs.....	53
IV. Conclusions.....	54
Bibliographie.....	55

Labour law and competition

Wolfgang DÄUBLER.....	57
I. Introduction	57
II. Competition	57
III. Labour law.....	58
IV. Conflict or coexistence?.....	59
A. The U.S. experience	59
B. The German experience	60
C. Coexistence after the Second World War in Western Europe.....	60
V. The growing importance of the principle of competition	62
VI. Attacks on labour law.....	63
VII. Counterattacks?.....	65

Market rules and the right to strike: a different approach

Giovanni ORLANDINI and Filip DORSSEMONT	67
Introduction	67
I. A judicial reappraisal of market rules and the right to strike.....	70
A. Reformulating the issue of horizontal effect.....	70
B. Private sources versus private actions	71
C. Employers' behaviour versus trade unions' activities	74
D. Collective agreement, collective bargaining and collective actions.....	78
E. Restrictions on collective actions: non-discrimination and protection of third parties	80
F. Horizontal direct effect or indirect state liability?	84
II. A failed legislative road de iure condendo : The Monti II proposal.....	86
A. Legal basis	86
B. The balance of Monti II	88
C. Problems of the dispute resolution mechanism.....	89
D. Critique on the alert mechanism.....	96
III. A constitutional pathway	99
A. The accession to the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms	99
B. Prospects of the accession	101
C. A social progress clause	103
Conclusions.....	103

Fundamental social rights: An added value to the protection of workers?
The increasing importance of fundamental (social) rights to the development of labour law?

Teun JASPERS and Willemijn ROOZENDAAL	107
I. Introduction	107
II. Controversial aspects	109
III. The meaning of ‘fundamental’ social rights	112
IV. EU law and respect for fundamental rights	116
A. Introduction	116
B. The EU legislator and fundamental social rights	116
C. The CJEU and fundamental social rights	118
V. Competition between individuals and equality rights	122
A. Introduction	122
B. Protection against discrimination on the grounds of sex	123
C. Protection against age and disability discrimination: reconsidering the proportionality test	128
VI. Concluding remarks	132

Le droit du travail, la restauration de l’autonomie de la volonté individuelle et la montée de la soft law

Fleur LARONZE	135
I. La réalisation du conflit entre l’autonomie de la volonté individuelle et la soft law	139
A. Les conditions d’émergence du conflit	139
1. L’existence du conflit conditionnée à l’articulation entre l’autonomie de la volonté collective et l’autonomie de la volonté individuelle	139
2. L’existence du conflit conditionnée à l’articulation entre la dimension individuelle et la dimension internationale	140
B. Les effets de la reconnaissance du conflit	142
1. Un effet pavlovien	142
2. Un effet secondaire	143
II. La résolution du conflit entre l’autonomie de la volonté individuelle et la soft law	143
A. La régulation du conflit	144
1. La régulation du conflit par l’application de règles de conflit ..	144
2. La requalification des normes en conflit par le juge	145
B. L’anticipation du conflit	146
1. L’anticipation du conflit par la « fusion-absorption » des normes individuelles	146

2. L'anticipation du conflit par la « fusion-intégration » des normes individuelles	147
Mutating or dissolving labour law? The fundamental right to dignity of working people questioned (once again)
Barbara KRESAL	149
I. The right to dignity and human rights – why is it so difficult to take them seriously in labour relations?	149
II. Current challenges of labour law in the light of the right to human dignity	153
III. Conclusion: The way forward – mutating or dissolving labour law? ...	157
References	158
Human dignity and decent work as ultimate objectives of labour law. Towards 'basic social law' with a labour law component?
Kelly REYNIERS	161
I. Human dignity	161
A. A dynamic concept with ethical and philosophical roots	161
B. ... but also a legal concept	162
II. Decent work: a factor of human dignity	165
A. An obvious nexus between decent work and human dignity	165
B. Decent work: concept	165
1. In general: ensuring the employee's fundamental rights in the best possible way	165
2. Specifically: a means of identifying the ILO's major priorities	166
C. Some remarks from a (Belgian) legal point of view	168
III. Labour law as (necessary) instrument to enforce and achieve decent work	169
IV. Towards basic social law with a labour law component?	170
A. The issue	170
B. Labour law... "for everyone who performs labour"	171
C. Fundamental rights and international labour standards as incentives to change or extend the personnel scope of labour law	173
D. "Labour" as the first application criterion for labour law	173
V. Conclusion	174
Labour law or social competition law: some concluding critical remarks
Amanda LATINNE	175
Exit solidarity, enter labour as a commodity	176
Under pressure	178

Me and my car 180
Sympathy for the corporations..... 182
Come together 184
Now that we have found out, what are we going to do?..... 186